

So many of his shadowes thou hast met,
And not the very King. I haue two Boyes
Seeke Percy and thy selfe about the Field:
But seeing thou fall'st on me so luckily,
I will assay thee: so defend thy selfe.

Dow. I feare thou art another counterfeite:
And yet in faith thou bear'st thee like a King:
But mine I am sure thou art, where thou be,
And thus I win thee. They fight, the K. being in danger.

Enter Prince.
Prim. Hold vp thy head vile Scot, or thou art like Neuer to hold it vp againe: the Spirits
Of valiant Sherly, Stafford, Blunt, are in my Armes;
It is the Prince of Wales that threatens thee,
Who neuer promiseth, but he meanes to pay.

They fight, Douglas flyeth.
Cheerely My Lord: how fare's your Grace?
Sir Nicholas Gawsey hath for succour sent,
And so hath Clifton: He to Clifton straight.

King. Stay, and breath awhile.
Thou hast redeem'd thy lost opinion,
And shew'd thou mak'st some tender of my life
In this faire rescue thou hast brought to mee.

Prim. O heauen, they did me too much injury,
That euer said I hearkned to your death.
If it were so, I might haue let alone
The insulting hand of Douglas ouer you,
Which would haue bene as speedy in your end,
As all the poysonous Potions in the world,
And sau'd the Treacherous labour of your Sonne.

K. Make vp to Clifton, He to Sir Nicholas Gawsey. Exit

Enter Hotspur.
Hot. If I mistake not, thou art Harry Monmouth.

Prim. Thou speak'st as if I would deny my name.

Hot. My name is Harry Percy.

Prim. Why then I see a very valiant rebel of that name.

I am the Prince of Wales, and thinke not Percy,
To share with me in glory any more:

Two Statues keepe not their motion in one Sphere,
Nor can one England brooke a double reigne,

Of Harry Percy, and the Prince of Wales.

Hot. Nor shall it Harry, for the houre is come
To end the one of vs; and would to heauen,

Thy name in Armes, were now as great as mine.

Prim. He make it greater ere I part from thee,
And all the budding Honors on thy Crest,

He crop to make a Garland for my head.

Hot. I can no longer brooke thy Vanities. Fight.

Enter Falstaff.
Fal. Well said Hal, to it Hal. Nay you shall finde no
Boy's play heere, I can tell you.

Enter Douglas, he fights with Falstaff, who falls downe

as if he were dead. The Prince killeth Percy.

Hos. Oh Harry, thou hast rob'd me of my youth: b

I better brooke the losse of brittle life,

Then those proud Titles thou hast wonne of me,
They wound my thoughts, then the sword my flesh:

But thought's the slave of Life, and Life, Times foole;
And Time, that takes survey of all the world,

Must haue a stop. O, I could Prophesie,
But that the Earth, and the cold hand of death,

Eyes on my Tongue: No Percy, thou art dust,
And food for —

Prim. For Wormes, braue Percy. Farewell great heart:
Ill-weau'd Ambition, how much art thou shrunke?

When that this bodie did containe a spirit,

A Kingdome for it was too small a bound:
But now two paces of the vilest Earth
Is roome enough. This Earth that beares the dead,
Beares not aliue so stout a Gentleman.

If thou wert sensible of curtesie,
I should not make so great a shew of Zeale.
But let my fauours hide thy mangled face,
And euen in thy behalfe, He thanke my selfe

For doing these fayre Rites of Tenderesse.
Adieu, and take thy praise with thee to heauen,
Thy ignomy sleepe with thee in the graue,
But not remembered in thy Epitaph.

What? Old Acquaintance? Could not all this flesh
Keepe in a little life? Poore Iacke, farewell:
I could haue better spar'd a better man.

O, I should haue a heauy misse of thee,
If I were much in loue with Vanity.

Death hath not stricke so far a Deere to day,
Though many dearer in this bloody Fray:
Imbowell'd will I see thee by and by,
Till then, in blood, by Noble Percy lye.

Falstaffe riseth vp.

Falst. Imbowell'd? If thou imbowell mee to day, He giue you leaue to powder me, and eat me too to morrow.

'Twas time to counterfet, or that hotte Termagant Scot, had paid me scot and lot too, Counterfeit? I am no counterfeit; to dye, is to be a counterfeit, for hee is but the counterfeit of a man, who hath not the life of a man: But to counterfeit dying, when a man thereby liueth, is to be no counterfeit, but the true and perfect image of life in-deede. The better part of Valour, is Discretion; in the which better part, I haue sau'd my life. I am affraid of this Gun-powder Percy though he be dead. How if hee should counterfeit too, and rise? I am afraid hee would proue the better counterfeit: therefore He make him fure, yea, and He sweare I kill'd him. Why may not hee rise as well as I: Nothing confutes me but eyes, and no-bodie sees me. Therefore sirra, with a new wound in your thigh come you along me. Takes Hotspur on his backe.

Enter Prince and John of Lancaster.
Prim. Come Brother John, full bravely hast thou fellest thy Maiden sword.

John. But soft, who haue we heere?
Did you not tell me this Fat man was dead?

Prim. I did, I saw him dead,
Breathlesse, and bleeding on the ground: Art thou aliue?

Or is it fantasie that playes vpon our eye-sight?
I prethee speake, we will not trust our eyes

Without our eares. Thou art not what thou seem'st.

Fal. No, that's certaine: I am not a double man: but if I be not Iacke Falstaffe, then am I a Iacke: There is Percy, if your Father will do me any Honor, so: if not, let him kill the next Percy himselfe. I looke to be either Earle or Duke, I can assure you.

Prim. Why, Percy I kill'd my selfe, and saw thee dead.
Fal. Didst thou? Lord, Lord, how the world is giuen to Lying? I graunt you I was downe, and out of Breath, and so was he, but we rose both at an instant, and fought a long houre by Shrewsburie clocke. If I may bee beleeued, so: if not, let them that should reward Valour, beare the sinne vpon their owne heads. He take't on my death
I gaue him this wound in the Thigh: if the man were aliue, and would deny it, I would make him eate a peece of my sword.

John. This is the strangest Tale that e're I heard.

Prim. This is the strangest Fellow, Brother John.

Come bring your luggage Nobly on your backe:
For my part, if a lye may do thee grace,
He gi'll it with the happiest tearmes I haue.

A Retreat is sounded.
The Trumpets sound Retreat, the day is ours:
Come Brother, let's to the highest of the field,

To see what Friends are liuing, who are dead. Exeunt
Fal. He follow as they say, for Reward. Hee that rewards me, heauen reward him. If I do grow great again, He grow lesse? For He purge, and leaue Sacke, and liue cleanly, as a Nobleman should do. Exit

Scena Quarta.

The Trumpets sound.
Enter the King, Prince of Wales, Lord Iohn of Lancaster,
Earle of Westmerland, with Worcester &
Vernon Prisoners.

King. Thus euer did Rebellion finde Rebuke.
Ill-spirited Worcester, did we not send Grace,
Pardon, and rearmes of Loue to all of you?

And would'st thou turne our offers contrary?
Misuse the tenor of thy Kinsmans trust?

Three Knights vpon our party slaine to day,
A Noble Earle, and many a creature else,
Had bene aliue this houre,

If like a Christian thou had'st truly borne Betwixt our Armies, true Intelligence.

Wor. What I haue done, my safety vrg'd me to,

FINIS.
